

APRIL 2019

Dr Ashokka Balakrishnan MBBS MD DNB FANZCA MHPE EDRA

Dr Ashokka Balakrishnan is a Consultant anaesthesiologist and Simulation Program Director (anaesthesia division) at National University Hospital and CenMed Associate at Centre for Medical Education (CenMed), National University Hospital, Singapore. He has 12 years of experience in high fidelity simulation based undergraduate, postgraduate medical and allied acute care teaching. He is the module lead for MHPE program for the Maastricht-Singapore Collaboration at the Academy of Medicine, Singapore.

He has a Fellowship of the Australia New Zealand College of Anaesthesiologists (FANZCA) and a Masters in Health professions educations (MHPE) from Maastricht, Netherlands.

His special interests are postgraduate exam support, simulation based postgraduate and undergraduate education, Inter professional education through acute care simulation and multidisciplinary team training. He has conducted international workshops in simulation, airway and crisis management for acute care practitioners, trauma teams, anaesthesiologists and nursing delegates and medical education faculty development programs in USA, Taiwan, Philippines, China, Australia, Thailand, Indonesia, Malaysia & India.

He is the reviewer of the Advances in Health Sciences Education and the Singapore Medical journal.